

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an apparatus for recovering water for an electrical/fuel-cell system in a vehicle, the cooling circuit of the vehicle radiator and/or of the air-conditioning system is coupled via a heat exchanger to at least one exhaust-gas stream of the electrical/fuel-cell system. Water precipitated due to the cooling is collected.